Jerry Brown, November 25, 2009

“This is a humble celebration, commemorating the inauguration of a California governor who possesses both the humility and experience to lead us through this severe economic crisis by creating jobs - not just jobs for a few, but jobs for all Californians.”

Senator Lou Correa

“Eating hot dogs is nothing new to working families, and they are used to sacrificing for a stronger future. Congratulations to the People’s Governor from everyone here at the People’s event.”

“California was built by dreamers, doers and pioneers who led the world in innovation. California can be governed. Of that, I have no doubt. We can attract the creative minds and the doers who will produce the jobs in renewable energy, medical advances, new materials, better designs for living and learning; we can accomplish that.”

Jerry Brown, June 8, 2010
